Background

The Laboratory of Financial Innovation (LAB) is a space open to the discussion of ideas, where institutions and individuals interested in climate and social finance contribute their best efforts and experience to implement innovative financial instruments that promote good practices for capital markets in the region.

Created by the Inter-American Development Bank, in collaboration with different national and international institutions, the LAB promotes a multisectoral dialogue promoting debates and exchange of experiences among the various capital market stakeholders, with the participation of the public sector and the private sector in the generation of financial innovative instruments that support sustainable development in the region.

Objectives

The LAB is currently working in Brazil with 4 thematic working groups focused on Green Finance, Impact Investment, Fintech, and environmental, social, and governance factors (ASG).
